SCC COE is partnering with BW Research on a series of reports that will identify opportunities within key and emerging sectors across our region, including Aerospace and Defense, Clean Tech, High Tech, Life Sciences, and Working Lands and Water. As part of this work, there will be employer surveys and interviews with industry leaders in these areas, including employers, educators, workforce development boards, and more. BW will identify some potential stakeholders, and we will work with them to identify others and fill in any gaps.

COE may reach out over the next couple of weeks to get your input on who else should be included in these interviews. Interview subjects could be large or key employers you work with, faculty and program directors, or other local industry experts. There is no action you need to take right now but we wanted to give you a heads up in advance. The general timeline for this phase of the project to be conducted is March and rolling into April.
